The Toshiba S300 Surveillance Internal Hard Drives hold all the capacity you need to take on high-definition surveillance video streams with equally high performance and surveillance-critical reliability built for 24/7 operation.

The S300 is designed to support up to 64 high definition cameras, allowing flexible scalability for your security camera systems. Compatible with DVR, NVR, video servers and video management systems designed for around-the-clock security, the surveillance never sleeps - so that you can.

For great reliability and scalability in RAID and multi-disk enclosures, the S300 utilizes RV sensor technology to compensate for the effects of vibration from adjacent drives or cooling fans.
