The Gigabyte AERO X16 is engineered for creators, professionals, and gamers who demand cutting-edge performance and stunning visual fidelity in a portable package. Finished in elegant Lunar White, this laptop combines powerful components with a sophisticated design, ensuring you can tackle the most demanding tasks with style and speed.

Unmatched Performance for Creativity

At the heart of the AERO X16 lies the advanced AMD Ryzen AI 7 350 processor, designed to handle intensive multitasking and next-generation AI workloads efficiently. This power is complemented by 16 GB of high-speed DDR5 RAM, ensuring seamless operation whether you are rendering 3D models, editing high-resolution video, or running complex software suites. Storage speed is critical, and the substantial 1000 GB Solid-State Drive (SSD) provides rapid boot times and instantaneous access to your vast project files and applications.

Dedicated Graphics Power and Visual Fidelity

Unlock new levels of graphical excellence with the dedicated NVIDIA GeForce RTX 5050 Laptop GPU, equipped with 8 GB of blazing-fast GDDR7 memory. The RTX 5050 delivers real-time ray tracing capabilities and accelerated performance crucial for modern AAA gaming and professional creative applications like Adobe Creative Cloud and Blender.

The centerpiece of the AERO X16 is its brilliant 16-inch display featuring QHD+ resolution. This high-resolution screen ensures that every detail in your work and entertainment is rendered with exceptional clarity and vibrant color accuracy, essential for professional color grading and immersive viewing experiences. The laptop comes pre-installed with the secure and user-friendly Windows 11 Home operating system and features a comfortable English backlit keyboard.
