The CORSAIR 3500X RS-R ARGB chassis combines functionality with aesthetic appeal, designed to enhance your PC build. Its mid-tower form factor allows for ample space, accommodating a variety of components while maintaining an organized layout through its cable management system. Panoramic tempered-glass panels showcase the internal components beautifully and offer easy access for upgrades and maintenance. The chassis features multiple dust filters to protect against debris and supports ARGB fans for customizable lighting that adds a unique touch to any setup. Cooling options are ample, with flexibility for various fan and radiator configurations, ensuring optimal airflow and temperature management for high-performance builds. The robust structure of this case, made from steel and tempered-glass, provides durability while the sleek design appeals to gamers and PC enthusiasts alike. With generous space for expansion and compatibility with various motherboard types, the CORSAIR 3500X RS-R ARGB is a smart choice for builders seeking style and efficiency.
