NEEWER CA077 universal mounting cage

The NEEWER CA077 is a universal mounting cage compatible with a wide range of DSLR and mirrorless cameras, including models from Canon, Sony, Nikon, Fujifilm, Lumix, and Blackmagic. Its sturdy aluminum alloy construction ensures durability while maintaining a relatively low weight of 818 g, and a maximum load capacity of 15 kg allows you to work safely even with more complex setups. This solution is ideal for both vlogging and professional video production.

Quick setup and Arca compatibility

The cage is equipped with an Arca-type quick-release plate, which allows for instant camera attachment without time-consuming setup. The locking mechanism secures the equipment against accidental disengagement, enhancing safety during use. If needed, the camera can also be mounted directly on the 1/4" thread, providing additional flexibility for different camera bodies.

Comfortable operation and a stable grip

Two ergonomic, silicone-coated grips ensure a secure and comfortable hold during handheld recording. This design facilitates stable camera handling and improves control over your shots, reducing fatigue during long sessions. The lightweight yet durable construction makes the kit well-suited for extended use in various environments.

Kit expansion and extensive mounting options

The CA077 model offers numerous mounting points, including 1/4" and 3/8" threads with ARRI locating holes, cold shoe mounts, and a NATO rail, allowing you to attach a variety of accessories such as microphones, monitors, or lighting. The Arca-type base allows for quick mounting on tripods and heads compatible with this standard, making it easy to adapt the rig to various shooting scenarios.
