GODOX RFT-25S Reflector

The GODOX RFT-25S is a reflector designed specifically for use with the R200 flash head. Thanks to its silver interior, it effectively optimizes and enhances light reflection, allowing you to better harness the flash's potential. Its contoured design helps concentrate the light beam, ensuring greater lighting precision and making it easier to achieve the desired effect when shooting.

More Effective Light Control

Compared to the R200 flash head alone, the GODOX RFT-25S reflector provides a higher level of control over the direction of light propagation. It enables more precise lighting shaping, allowing you to better tailor the light's character to the requirements of a given scene. This is a practical accessory for photographers who want more control over the light and a simple way to expand the capabilities of their R200 flash head.
