Various connectors for full functionality

The device has an HDMI port that allows you to connect devices such as Google TV, Fire TV, Apple TV or media players. An additional USB 2.0 port is used to charge devices while providing constant access to power. Thanks to a cable with a USB connector, the adapter connects to cars equipped with CarPlay, allowing for easy content transfer and seamless integration into the vehicle's system. What's more, you'll find an adapter included that allows you to connect devices with a USB-C port.

Entertainment at your fingertips

The Ottocast CA361-C4 is a device that turns your car into a real entertainment center. Watch movies, play your favorite games or use apps such as Spotify, Netflix or YouTube on a screen built into your dashboard. With HDMI support, you can use the device as you would in a home theater, all without the need for complicated installation.

Compact design and ease of use

The adapter features intuitive operation. Its installation is quick and easy - just plug the device into the car's USB port and connect it to the screen. The compact size makes the adapter fit perfectly into the car space without taking up much space.
