This power cable from InLine® has been specially developed for use in Japanese power grids.
The mains plug complies with the standard used in Japan and can be plugged directly into the corresponding sockets. At the other end is a C13 cold device socket, as found on many electronic devices in the IT and audio/video sectors.
The 3-pin design ensures that even devices with a protective earth conductor can be operated reliably. This makes the cable ideal for professional applications in industry, IT or event technology – wherever technical devices with a C13 connection need to be supplied with power safely and reliably.
With a choice of two lengths – 1.8 m or 5 m – the cable offers additional flexibility in installation.
