Aprašymas

Outstanding HD Visual Quality

HDMI (High definition multimedia interface) has been specially introduced for full digital transmission of audio and video data, commonly used in home entertainment systems as an alternative to analog standards such as SCART. Due to the high bandwidth, it is an interface which carries uncompressed data and can process all digital formats along with standard, enhanced and HD video.

This Hama High Speed HDMI Cable provides you with the ideal cost effective solution for connection of HDMI compatible devices and transmission of digital video signals and data. Ideal for the connection of HD cameras and camcorders and other devices with a Type D (micro) HDMI socket to a HD TV or Type A HDMI device, it offers perfect, high-resolution full HD quality (4096 x 2160 pixels) with colour space of 30/36/48 bit for your viewing pleasure as well as possessing 100MB/s network functionality due to an integrated Internet/Ethernet channel (HEC) network. Settle down with your friends and family in front of a big screen to watch that hilarious video clip captured on your HD camcorder or to view the pictures of your recent holiday from your digital camera, and be transported into that moment with the outstanding visual imagery and audio/visual transmission thanks to Hama HDMI.

Performance to be Proud of

Hama take pride in the quality of their cables. With Hama customers are assured that they will receive a reliable, durable product from a trusted brand that does exactly what it says on the packet. Constructed out of high-quality cable material and with specially developed gold-plated plugs the Hama High Speed HDMI Cable allows you to achieve ultra fast transmission speeds of up to 10.2Gbit/s for all image and sound standards with an integrated Audio Return Channel (ARC) and fully shielded lines for ultimate protection against electromagnetic interference that could otherwise lead to poor or slow transmissions. A reliable cable for a reliable connection.
