Aprašymas

These are Equip connectors designed specifically for Cat 6A Ethernet cables. They are shielded, which means they have additional insulation or shielding to protect the signal from electromagnetic interference (EMI) and radio frequency interference (RFI). This shielding helps maintain signal integrity in environments with electrical interference.

100pcs/pack: This indicates that the package contains 100 individual RJ45 shielded plugs. This bulk quantity is useful for projects or installations that require a large number of shielded connectors. It ensures that you have a sufficient supply of high-quality connectors for your networking needs.
